

THE UNITED STATES

The United States opens up a wealth of opportunities for educational and cultural travel. Study politics in Washington, experience the vibrant cultures of New York and San Francisco or take your group to the birthplace of Rock 'n' Roll and trace musical history through Memphis. Our itineraries are tailor-made to suit the needs of your group, whatever subject you wish to base your trip around or whichever city your group would prefer to travel to.

Alcatraz

Statue of Liberty

NEW YORK

They don't come any bigger than the Big Apple. Experience world-class museums, huge statues, even bigger buildings and some outrageous excess. New York is a densely-packed mass of humanity, but the city's hyperactive rush keeps drawing more and more people to it. A few of its attractions are unsurpassable, like the Statue of Liberty, the Empire State Building, Central Park and Times Square to name just a few. It doesn't really matter what you do or where you go in New York because the city itself is an exhilarating experience!

Suggested subjects:

Politics, History - Battlefields.

Times Square - New York

SAN FRANCISCO

One of the most colourful and sophisticated cities in the United States. San Francisco will offer you an array of attractions from the magnificent Golden Gate Bridge, considered to be one of the seven wonders of the modern world to the notorious island prison of Alcatraz. The diversity of culture that San Francisco has to offer will make for a fabulous trip.
